Dear Contributor,

Please check all that apply:

Tables, figures, graphs, appendices, etc., included in this manuscript are original pieces created by the authors and not previously published material from another source.

Tables, figures, graphs, appendices, etc., are compilations from various sources and are used to create original material. The author(s) cite sources as contributors of data and not authors of the material.

e.g., Data obtained from Alias (2001), Smith (1992), and Jones (1983).

Tables, figures, graphs, appendices, etc., are taken from another source and used with written permission.

e.g., Source: Diamond, Journal of Information 1 (1), p. 16, 2001.

Please note: In this case, written documentation of reprint permission for the material from the original source must be provided.

Tables, figures, graphs, appendices, etc., are adapted and have significant changes from the original published material.

e.g., Adapted from Smith, 2006.

Screenshots have been taken from the Internet.

e.g., Source: <http://www.abcd.com>

Please note: Screenshots are copyrightable; permission from the Website is required to reproduce a screenshot in a Haworth Press journal. One exception is information taken from Federal Government Websites, which normally end in .gov. Information on these sites is usually considered to be in the public domain.

Photographs included in the manuscript will need written documentation from the photographer and person(s) included in the photograph(s) [Model Release Form] giving permission to The Haworth Press to reproduce the photograph(s).

Thank you for your contribution,
